Classes with Ryan turner

We are proud to say that Ryan took his first class at our shop. He was one of our youngest students, but his amazing talent was apparent from the very beginning. Ryan now has been making beads for several years and achieved an incredible skill level. He is willing to share some of those skills and teach two summer classes at Tiffany House.

Space is limited - these are not regular classes at this point - so book now!

Flower implosions

Learn to create stunningly realistic flowers inside pendants and marbles using soft glass implosions in this half-day class. You will also cover pulling encased stringers, frit stringers and twisted cane as well as using dense glassblowing rod and peeling glass for better colour. Mandrel implosions, inclusion of murrini and incorporating implosions in beads may also be covered as time permits. This is an intermediate to advanced class.

Saturday, Aug 7, 10-12:30, $95 - Materials and 2 hours of studio time included

Saturday, Aug 14, 10-5, $185 - Materials and 4 hours of studio time included.

Butterfly murrini

A butterfly murrini will be carefully assembled by combining basic shapes over four separate pulls. Many advance techniques will be covered and you will be working with large amounts of glass. Upon completion of the cane we will cover cutting the finished butterflies and including them in beads. Other types of murrini may also be covered as time permits. This is an advanced full day class. Students should be comfortable making twisties and pulling large gathers.
